What is Household Relief?

A free, friendly, confidential service available for Australian households financially impacted, in any way, due to COVID-19.

Has yours or your partner's income reduced, or expenses increased? We can help you with financial support to get back on track. You are eligible if your household has been financially impacted in any way due to COVID-19 since February 2020 and you:

- are 16 years or over
- are an Australian citizen, permanent resident, or hold a valid visa
- have a before tax annual income of less than $60,000 if you are single, or $100,000 for couples or if you have dependents.

How can we help?

- Interest Loans of up to $3,000 to get back on your feet (note: not for cash).
- Identify financial supports, review your household budget, help you access financial hardship arrangements, and refer you to free in-house Financial Counsellors and other services.

If you need a loan for essential goods and services, Good Shepherd also offers No Interest Loans (NILS) to eligible people.

Financial Conversations

An important part of the Household Relief program is access to safe financial information to help you on your journey towards financial security.

Every person who uses the Household Relief service has a conversation with an experienced Good Shepherd financial expert. The financial expert will assess your situation and speak to you about the supports that are available to you, specific to your situation. This could include Utility Relief Grants (or similar depending on where you live), rent relief, and other government benefits. It may also include referrals to other services, such as financial counselling.
